INTRODUCTION

amp.wordmeaning.org is an open and collaborative dictionary project that, apart from being able to consult meanings of words, also offers its users the possibility of including new words or nuancing the meaning of existing words in it. As is understandable, this project would be impossible to carry out without the esteemed collaboration of the people who follow us around the world. This e-Book, therefore, was born with the intention of paying a small tribute to all our collaborators.

Chean Martínez has contributed to the dictionary with 2 meanings that we have approved and collected in this small book. We hope that the reader is very valuable and if you find it useful or want to be part of the project, do not hesitate to visit our website, we will be delighted to receive you.

En principio, se considera un americanismo, ya que se utiliza en algunos países de Latinoamérica y muy poco en España. Se dice de una persona que tiene las mejillas sonrosadas, por el Sol, como indicador de que tiene buena salud, etc. El diccionario de la RAE no recoge esta palabra, pero sí "chapeado/a", con el mismo significado, y localizando su uso en Colombia, Honduras y México.

This word is considered an americanism, barely used in Spain. The Royal Academy of the Spanish Language (RAE) does not accept this word, but it admits "chapeado/a" with the same meaning, and places its use in Colombia, Honduras and Mexico. This is said of the person with a red face, or blushed cheeks -be it from exposition to the Sun or out of anger, etc-
